His intention was apparently to pay the amount back; but, as usually happens in such cases, he was unable to do so, and was compelled af last to make a clean breast of the matter to Mr. KIRCHNER. It is easily understood that that gentleman could hardly hesitate as to the course he was compelled to adopt. Property entrusted to the firm had been made away with, and his duty to his constituents as well as to the public, rendered it clear that he was called upon to take action in the matter. Word Arich was accordingly arraigned before the Supreme Court, and being found guilty of fraudulent conversion, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment—virtually nine

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE. APPIL 13TH, EVENING.

The market for Bengul Drug, ss far as a egitimate domand is concerned, has been completely neglected. Owing to extreme prices for new Patna under speculative influence, the day has been occupied again with clearance of time liargain transactions. Settlements of some operations have been come to by payment of difference in value, at as high as $585, and as s wm as the time bargain sales are all closed for the 3rd sales drug, of which, there is but very little left to be arranged, prices will at once considerably decline, when only the Obinese will resume husiness, and supply them-selves at moderate rates. The unsold stock of Bengal is now estimated at about 1,400 chests Patnu, and 400 chests Benares, chiefly in the band of one firm. New Patra is quoted at $570 to $575, nominal: Benarcs at $540 to $5424; Malwa at $620 to $625 little doing. By the eteamer Enterprise, telegrams have been received from Calcutta vid Singapore to the 5th inst., giving the average of Patnu opinio of the 4th sale about Rs. 1,171; Benares Rs. 1,151 per Ross, Master, will have quick despatch for the chest. The steamers China and Thales were to | above port. leave on or about the 15th inst. for Hongkung. The next Mail steamer, due bere on or about the 20th inst., has about 1,400 chests Mulwa opium; as also some Bengal Drug.

IMPERIAL QUARTO. english and chinese dictionary PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION.

An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, by the Rev.

Free Office, Hongkong.

W. LOBSCHEID, published at the Daily

FOR scope and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extense. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercines for students of a most instructive nature Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margine and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. The scope of the work is so great, and ite atilitarian purposes so complete, that a re-ference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans reciding in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully, with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasionally.

OHINESE AND ENGLISH DICTIONARY THE REVD. W. LOBSCHEID.

JUST-PUBLISHED.

THE above work, which has been chiefly students in the study of Chinese literature. comprises many characters not met with in any of the Dictionaries bitherto published. The rejection of between 8,000 and 9,000 characters will make it comparatively easy to find a quaracter without counting the strokes of the compound figure, (minus the radical), and the addition of the Synonyms will prove a great help to such as are unxlous to acquaint themselves more minutely with the character of the language. The work contains 584 Imperial Octavo pages, and is neatly bound in cloth.

The Burder Minuted and the Scottle Bhakbpeare.

The time draws nigh when Scotland is to herself and her most gifted son the honour of lubit the loyalty and enthusiasus; or even a as a jury found—in the Gentleman Jailor's portion of it, which saluted that of Robert Burns, it will add a lustre and a laurel to the your 1871 that shall render it only second to the year 1771, when the great Minstrel of the Border and the prose Shakspeare of Scotland appeared in the metropolis of his native land. We use the words "a portion of it" advisedly, for we are aware that there were circumstances connected with the Burns colebration which scoured greater enthusiusm than we can expect in the case of Sir Walter Scott. Mrs. Stowe, in her Sunny Memories, notices that, at the in 1853, any allusion made to Burns brought then in his office; the Scottish hobles who supdown the house, while Scott's name was re-develor de St. George-Cornwath, while scott's name was re-develor rather coldly. We may supply some Wintown Nithiadale, Derwontwater, Widdringreasons for what seems to have puzzled her considerably; and these reasons will be found Macclesfield, Lord Chancellor of England, for to apply to the point in hand. In the first, high crimes and misdemeanours in his office; place, Mrs. Stowe's admirers—and we state it in her bonour, not in her disparagement—be longed principally to the people, the very class among whom Burns is most highly admired; the upper classes were not so fully represented at her gatherings and they in accordance to the light of the people, the very class among whom Burns is most highly admired; her Majesty's Tower. Secondly, there is a feeling very prevalent in Scotland that Burns was a shamefully used man; that his treatment at the hards of the sobility, and middle class too, of his time-led to much of his misery and reckless a debt to his memory which must be publicly rapturous cheer Mrs. Stown heard at her mect. Scotch people and Burns:

They gave him more than gold. They read the brave man's book." But the people of Sootland, England, and the world, read Scott and gave him gold besides.

Thirdly, there was lingering in 1853, and there lingers still, a certain prejudice, purtly political and partly religious, against Scott, founded on his Tory principles, and his treatment of the Covenanters. That this prejudice has to a great extent subsided since, we fondly believe; trury, although sometimes profune enough, was most sanguine expectations of the Government. but it is not entirely gone.
